Anticipate and Advise Clients on Crucial Data Privacy & Security Regulatory Changes

Stay informed of global regulatory changes and mitigate risks affecting your clients, with MLex real-time coverage and expert analysis. As a one-stop-shop for news, insightful commentary and source documents, you can position your firm as indispensable to clients as they navigate the constantly evolving data privacy & security laws and regulations across the globe.

MLex breaks exclusive stories on laws and enforcement actions, along with expert insight into how regulatory risk will impact business. With a solid understanding of regulators’ expectations and actions, you can offer clients invaluable knowledge on how to remain compliant—and competitive. You can also act quickly when a client—or prospective client—becomes entangled in a probe.

Whether you are looking to inform clients of potential risk, advise clients on related probes, develop winning legal strategies for defense, or generate new business by predicting enforcement, MLex can help ensure you are well positioned to advise clients on new regulations, risks and legal questions.

Advise on significant regulatory changes.
This area of the law is rapidly changing, but you can stay informed with comprehensive and reliable coverage of legislative processes, court cases, investigations and enforcement trends—including those in non-English speaking jurisdictions. Reduce your staff time spent on research and ensure nothing is missed when you rely on the proprietary coverage of MLex.

Provide expert guidance on risk and compliance strategies.
Develop confidence in how enforcers are applying laws and stay up-to-date on new laws under consideration, to assist your clients in establishing strategies and policies which are compliant with all relevant regimes worldwide.

Monitor and act quickly when there is a breach.
Keep your finger on the pulse of new probes and litigation that may impact your clients’ interests, and step in quickly to advise whether they are liable or if they have a claim for damages.
Providing an all-encompassing view.
Our coverage includes fines, court hearings, probes, legislation and enforcement trends.

About MLex
Our investigative reporters are on the ground, where you need us the most. We break news on developmental regulation from the earliest stages of industry consultation, right through enforcement and litigation; from the world’s most critical centers in North America, Latin America, Europe and Asia. MLex experts provide insight that isn’t available elsewhere – our relationships with local sources allow you access to information before it is public.
You can count on MLex for not only news and updates, but also expert analyses that explain how businesses are impacted, portfolios that show the history of a particular issue and source documents from regulatory agencies.
